You are invited to take part in a short survey to help us improve your Apple Support experience. Would you like to participate in this survey now?
Yes No

Apple Style Guide

Contents/Index

Table of Contents ⓘ

- ACC: Abbreviation for Advanced Audio Coding, an industry-standard audio compression format. For guidelines about using abbreviations, see abbreviations and acronyms.
- abbreviations and acronyms: An acronym is a pronounceable word formed from the initial letters or letters and syllables of a phrase, such as NASA (National Aeronautics and Space Administration). Use the pronounced or well-established form. Do not use a period in any of the forms of acronyms and abbreviations. Acronyms are almost always all caps, regardless of the capitalization style of the spelled-out form.
  - Abbreviations can be either plural or singular, depending on the context.
  - Acronym RDA (for read-only memory)
- When a spelled-out phrase is plural, the abbreviation might be written with an abbreviation or acronym, spell out its first occurrence on a page or in a section. In user manuals, spell out the term when you introduce it.
- Write to spell out: When you spell out a term, generally use the spelled-out version first, with the abbreviation or acronym in parentheses.
  - Use an acronym or abbreviation alone after the first occurrence.
  - If the abbreviation or acronym is much more familiar than the spelled-out version, you can put the abbreviation or acronym first followed by the spelled-out version in parentheses, or you can write that the abbreviation is "short for" the spelled-out version and place the spelled-out version in italics.
  - You can show your personal or familiar nickname.
  - An internal address is sometimes called a URL, short for Uniform Resource Locator.
- File types: Use all caps for abbreviations of file types.
  - JPEG file, an MP3 file, the MP4 file
- Filenames extensions, which indicate file types, should be lowercase.
  - .jpg, .mp3, .mp4, .doc
- See also file name extensions, file types.
- Pronunciation: If you think the reader might not know how to pronounce the acronym, provide a pronunciation like:
  - BYSWHO (pronounced "Wh" rhyme rey").
- See also pronunciation.
- Articles: Use the article a or an with an abbreviation or acronym, depending on its pronunciation.
  - a SAN, a USB port, an FAQ, an LCD screen
- Punctuation: Don't use periods except in abbreviations for nonsentence units of measure and in the abbreviations a.m., p.m., and U.S. (see U.S. for exceptions).
- Plural: Don't add an apostrophe before the plural in an abbreviation.
  - CDs, IOUs, GPSs
- Latin: Avoid using Latin abbreviations.
  - Correct for example, and others, and so on, and that is, or equivalent phrases
  - Incorrect e.g., for example; et al., and others; and so on; i.e., that is
- Use of measure: See use of measure and measure prefixes.
- Product names: Don't abbreviate any Apple product or service names, whether or not the product or service is implemented in a free service form.
- Short: Avoid or use instead. See also, Internet, URL, URI, URN, URC.
- about, below: You can use about or below to describe a section or an object that closely precedes or follows the text.
  - In the example above, Orig 3 is shortened and Orig 2 is lengthened, but their combined capacities remain the same as in the example above.
  - These orders mirror the settings of the Lexile dialog, described above (earlier text).
  - The diagram below shows a typical configuration. (see figure)
  - The process for creating a multivolume project is outlined below. (see text)

Otherwise, use a cross-reference (your preferred style) to refer to a specific section or object.

See also cross reference.

- AC: Abbreviation for alternating current. For guidelines about spelling out abbreviations, see abbreviations and acronyms.
- AC adapter: Don't use, use power adapter. See also power adapter, power cord.
- access: (v.), (n.) It's OK to use access as a verb and as a noun. Don't use access, but in developer materials, consider more general terms, such as log in to.
  - Avoid: Access the server using an administrator account.
  - Preferable: Log in to the server using an administrator account.
  - Avoid: You can access the Apple Support website at support.apple.com.
  - Preferable: You can open the Apple Support website at support.apple.com.
- accessibility: Refers to features that enable people with disabilities to successfully use Apple products and services. Capitalize the name of accessibility features, for example:
  - Accessibility Keyboard, AssistiveTouch, Guided Access, Invert Tone, Invert Colors, Larger Dynamic Type, Low Vision, Magnifier, Reduce Motion, Reduce Transparency, Speak Selection, Speak Screen, Text to Speech, Switch Control, Text to Speech, Voice Control, Voice Control, VoiceOver, Zoom.
- See also Writing about disability.
- access point: Also called a wireless access point. A device, such as a base station, that transmits and receives data in a wireless network. See also AirPort.
- Access Point Name: See APN.
- accessory: See also Apple accessory, third-party accessory.
- action: A component of an Automator workflow. A workflow is an ordered series of actions. Each action is a specific part of the task such as opening a new message, or a file.
- Action button: Note capitalization.
  - Choose a mode for the Action button.
- action description: In Automator, the description of the selected workflow action.
- Action pop-up menu: A pop-up menu labeled with an ellipsis and a down arrow in the Finder and in some Mac apps.

In user manuals, don't use the term action sheet, sheet, or popover. Instead, describe what the user must do, for example:

- Correct: Tap New Tab.
- Incorrect: Tap New Tab in the sheet that appears.

In developer materials, avoid sheet UI.

See also popover, sheet, sheet.

- activate, deactivate: Avoid. Instead, use turn on, turn off.
- active: Use to refer to the app or window currently being used. Preferred to in front. See also Front, Foreground, in front.
- Active Access Calculation: In AirPort Utility, Access Value calculation in general references.
  - You can switch between Active Access Calculation and Transparency mode.
  - When the IP of your AirPort is right, you experience better voice consideration.
  - Active Access Calculation is a feature of Transparency.
  - Click the AirPort icon in the menu bar, then click Access Calculation.
- After the first reference, you can abbreviate the term to Active Access Calculation or AAC in AirPort Utility reader notes.
  - AirPort's AAC Active Access Calculation feature is a wireless charging case.
  - AirPort's AAC Feature is a wireless charging case.
- Activity Image: Capitalize the names of the images that teach your daily activity in the Activity app, for example, Start Day, Exercise Ring.
- adapter: Not adaptor. Capitalize names of adapters that are sold separately.
  - Apple Lightning to 30-pin Adapter, Apple Lightning Digital AV Adapter
  - Correct: You can customize Maybe Audio to allow more or less noise.
  - Incorrect: You can customize Maybe Audio to allow more or less noise.
- address: Use one address for a street address or for the location in the computer's memory where a piece of information is stored. Use two addresses for a range of addresses. See also address, email address, internet address, network address, URL, URI, URN, URC.
- addresses (mail): Use the forms shown here for addresses. To include the country name in a U.S.-based Apple address, use USA (no periods).
  - Apple corporate addresses: Use the form:
    - Apple Park
    - Apple Park Way
    - One Apple Park Way
    - Cupertino, CA 95014
  - Street: Apple's mailing addresses:
    - Department Name
    - Apple
    - One Apple Park Way, MS cm-mr
    - Cupertino, CA 95014
  - Other addresses: Write addresses, spell out abbreviations such as Avenue, Drive, Road, Street and Suite. In U.K. or Ukrainian Blvd and Bldg, use the formal shown in the preceding examples for city and state. Use two letter abbreviations for state and province. Use the Chicago Manual of Style.
- adjacent: Don't use to refer to a control that has an area above, or left and right arrows, to increase or decrease a value. Instead, describe the control's location in the dialog, for example, "the control in the upper right." Use adjacent to refer to two controls that are intended to decrease the volume. If it's necessary to refer to the control itself, use adjacent. See also stepper.
- administrator: Use the term administrator account specifically for networks, servers, databases, or other information technology assets. Don't use administrator.
  - Use the term administrator account for Apple computer administrators and macOS users with administrator accounts, avoid using the more administrative-like term to describe a person who has an administrator account in macOS. Instead, you can say a user with an administrator account—typically, the owner (or owners) of a particular Mac computer.
  - Correct: To obtain a static IP address for your computer, contact your network administrator.
  - Correct: You must have an administrator account to modify other user accounts or a Mac.
  - Incorrect: You must be an administrator to install software.

See also administrator, root, System Administrator.

- administrator (adj.): Use in macOS to describe the primary account (or accounts) that can create other accounts, add computers, change network settings, or make system-wide changes. In IT and other enterprise server and training materials, Don't use to describe a person who has administrator privileges, or administrator's permissions.
  - Correct: Log in with an administrator account to install software.
  - Correct: To place a new Email account, log in as an administrator.
  - Incorrect: Log in with an administrator's account to install software.
- Use administrator privileges to describe a person with administrator rights that you use to manage remote servers.
  - Correct: Log in with an administrator's privileges.
  - Incorrect: Log in with an administrator's account to install software.
- Advanced Video Coding High Definition: See AVCHD.
- advisory, Advisor: Use Advisor to refer to a person in a customer-facing Apple Support position (including Genius and all Apple's customer-facing retail staff). Don't use advisor or advisory. Use advisor only if you're not referring specifically to an Apple/Genius Support person.
  - College students can apply for Apple Advisor jobs online.
- AFP: Abbreviation for Apple Filing Protocol. For guidelines about spelling out abbreviations, see abbreviations and acronyms.
- afterward: Not afterward.
- again: Don't use when referring to an Apple/Genius Support person. See also advisor, Advisor.
- AirDrop: Don't use as a verb.
  - Correct: You can AirDrop to send photos, documents, and more to other Apple devices nearby.
  - Incorrect: You can AirDrop photos, documents, and more to other Apple devices nearby.
- Airdrop: The name for AirPort in Japan. Airdrop wireless networking. Airdrop Extreme Base Station. Airdrop Extreme Base Station. Airdrop Time Capsule.
- Airport Utility: Note capitalization.
  - AirPlay Don't use as a verb.
  - Correct: You can AirPlay to stream video from iPhone to Apple TV.
  - Incorrect: You can AirPlay video from iPhone to Apple TV.
- AirPlay: In general, refer to Apple TV and AirPlay 2 in the AirPlay 2 in user profile article in a crossover article. If you need to refer to a specific part of AirPlay, it's OK to use the
  - Correct: AirPlay to a wireless speaker
  - Use AirPlay to broadcast your AirPlay.
  - Clean the AirPlay to a pale beach, and then return them to the customer.

Use numbers, not generalities, to refer to versions of AirPlay. For example, AirPlay 2, not AirPlay (2nd generation).

When you write about a specific model of AirPlay, use the model name. Learn how to clean your AirPlay. Learn how to clean your AirPlay 2. Your customer may ask you to make the AirPlay 2 make the sound of a pale beach.

Avoid using singular AirPlay, except in the phrase "the AirPlay." Don't use AirPlay as a noun, except in the phrase "the AirPlay." Don't use AirPlay as a verb. Don't use AirPlay as a noun.

- Avoid: You can change how each AirPlay responds when you press or tap it.
- Preferable: You can change your AirPlay's response when you press or tap it.

AirPort: Verbiess includes AirPort, AirPort and AirPort Extreme Base Capsule. You can AirPort to refer to AirPort, AirPort and AirPort Extreme Base Capsule. Use AirPort Extreme Base Station to refer to AirPort products, your AirPort Extreme Base Station.

- Software: AirPort software includes AirPort Utility and AirPort Disk Utility. Don't preceded these apps name with the.
- Hardware: AirPort Series includes the AirPort Express Base Station, the AirPort Extreme Base Station, and AirPort Time Capsule. You can shorten AirPort Express Base Station to AirPort Express, but don't use AirPort Extreme Base Station alone by referring to the technology. Use an article with AirPort Extreme Base Station, AirPort Express Base Station, and AirPort Time Capsule.

In user materials, you can use depict or show instead of describe to describe generic items. Avoid error messages, use instead:

- The computer displays a sound a pattern that prompt when it needs your attention.
- An alert message appears if a problem occurs during the installation.

In specific situations, however, and the word depict can also describe what happens:

- A message appears when the installation is finished.

also: Use for with other list of 3 or 4.

- The data for the selected file or on the desktop.

The object the also represents is called the original item. Don't use absent. See also small, little.

alternate: Use alternate to describe a key that is used in conjunction with other keys to change what is typed or alight and a type alternate of keyboard. Alternate can be used with Shift, Ctrl, command, or a combination of the keys, such as both the left and right keyboard. See also justification.

alt-click (adj.): Refers to computers with both a Mac keyboard, such as Mac computers. Also refers to products that combine functions such as printing, faxing, and copying.

- Avoid: Avoid using when when you can use a keyboard to make the reader the subject.
  - Avoid: Fieldwork this allows you to create a database.
  - Preferable: You can create a database with FileMaker Pro.

See also enabler (n.) enabled (adj.), enable (v.).

alternate: See also Keyboard Alternate Key.

alphabet column: Don't use to refer to the vertical column of letters at the right side of a text screen. OS stats. Use index.

alphanumeric: Not alpha-numeric.

- Hex
- Hexadecimal
- Alphanumeric
- Decimal
- Binary
- octal
- ASCII
- unicode

For detailed information about letter by letter alphabetizing, see The Chicago Manual of Style.

alphanumeric: See also.

alternate (adj.), alternate (n.): Use alternate to mean every other and to mean a choice between two options. Use alternative to mean alternating more or less regularly.

- You can alternate between two options.
- Alternate between two options.

alternate: See also Keyboard Alternate Key.

alternating current: See AC.

AM-Dip: Don't use, use power dip. See also Interruption to Windows users. For Mac users, use Sleep/Dip.

a.m.: Note periods. If 30 is a space before the abbreviation.

ambient light sensor: Don't use a.l.s.

America, American: Refers to both North and South America. Don't use when you mean United States. See also U.S.

American National Standards Institute: See ANSI.

amperand: Use amperand character (&) to refer to Apple when you refer to corporate elements, documents titles, or other items containing the character.

- Choose Insert > Date & Time.

To allow apps to use your camera, see Privacy & Security settings.

angle brackets: Use angle brackets, not brackets, to describe the < and > symbols.

Use left angle bracket and right angle bracket when you need to distinguish between opening and closing angle brackets.

You can also use less-than sign and greater-than sign for these symbols if appropriate in the context. See also brackets, curly brackets, parentheses, square brackets.

Animal: Animated Apple Watch watch face. Animated Animation. Animation is every days. Use Animal for both singular and plural.

- Choose an Animal to use in a FaceTime call.
- Organize yourself with Animal that enter your facial expressions.

See also emoji, Memoji.

ANSI: Acronym for American National Standards Institute. For guidelines about spelling out acronyms, see abbreviations and acronyms.

antenna, antennas: Not antennae in relation to wireless products.

anti-pattern: Chose an ensemble before a capital letter.

- amplifying, antenna
- anti-intellectual, anti-Israel
- Exception: anti-hero.

antialiasing (n., adj.), antialiased (adj.): Don't use antialias as a verb.

anti-replay value: Use to refer to a security value used for protecting against a replay attack. Don't use nonce.

If you're discussing code that uses the term nonce to refer to an anti-replay value, and the code can't be changed, it's OK to use nonce. Consult a nonce if you need nonce to refer, but use anti-replay value in other cases.

To force a fresh alternation that includes an anti-replay value, the NTSM solution can send an replayed Bio Control Information.

APFS: Abbreviation for Apple File System, the default file system used to format Apple devices and external storage devices.

API: Abbreviation for application programming interface (not application program interface). To refer to a specific API, use the URL for guidelines about using abbreviations, see abbreviations and acronyms.

APN: Abbreviation for Access Point Name. For guidelines about spelling out abbreviations, see abbreviations and acronyms.

APNs: Abbreviation for Apple Push Notification service. The service that Apple provides to allow developers to send notifications to their apps. For guidelines about spelling out abbreviations, see abbreviations and acronyms. See also push notifications.

apostrophe: Use the curly apostrophe (Option-Shift-Right Bracket) except in code that isn't only of interest. See also quotes, possessives, quotation marks.

app, application, program: An app (short for application) is a computer program that performs a specific task, such as a word processor, game, and so on.

Use app when referring to apps for iOS, iPadOS, tvOS, watchOS, and macOS.

- Tap a photo to open it in the Photos app.

In most cases, you can use keyword of application in table to software for the Mac, but be consistent within a document.

Some apps have versions that work on multiple platforms. To distinguish between versions of an app, use descriptive phrases:

- Learn about the new features of Pages for iOS and iPadOS.
- You can add tracks to a song in GarageBand for Mac.

In general, use program only to refer to software that doesn't have a graphical user interface.

- The Sound program consolidates all sound-related utilities into a single app.

See also software development kit, system software.

app: Use appear, not display, to refer to the remaining visible on the screen.

- Correct: The value parameter appears.
- Incorrect: The value parameter is displayed.
- Incorrect: The value parameter displays.

In a task, avoid stating that an item appears. If necessary for clarity, try to work it into the context of the task.

- 1. Click the close button.
- 2. In the message that appears, click Save.

However, if it's OK to appear in a task for information the following:

- The prime icon appears only when there are jobs in the printing queue.
- Photos, videos, and other files appear in the Photos app.

appendix: Use as appendix for background information and other supplementary material that doesn't directly relate to the main subject of the document. Use appendix, not information or other, for supplementary material in an appendix.

Appendixes are lettered: Appendix A, Appendix B, and so on. When a document has only one appendix, it should be the appendix, not appendix A.

appendixes: Not appendices.

Apple: The company's official name is Apple Inc. Apple Inc. in copyright notices and credit lines and in communications that require the legal name of the company, such as legal documents, contracts, and patents.

- © 2020 Apple Inc. All rights reserved.

In the text of corporate and marketing communications and in the corporate address, refer to the company as Apple. You can also use Apple to refer to the company's products and services.

- Today Apple announced a new MacBook computer.
- Apple displays the artifact in a clear glass case.

Don't use Apple alone to refer to products or services, always include a noun. Apple computer, not just Apple. Apple computer, not Apple, you can refer to Apple's computer, not just Apple's.

You can use the possessive form to references to the company.

- AirPort Extreme is Apple's wireless networking product.

You can also use the hyphenated form.

- Apple-approved video cards, Apple-certified partners, Apple-designed templates

See also addresses (mailing).

Apple Account: An account that people use to access all Apple services, including the Apple Store, iCloud, Messages, and FaceTime. This account was formerly known as Apple ID.

- Correct: An Apple Account gives you access to all Apple services.
- Incorrect: An Apple ID gives you access to all Apple services.

Pages app or in Mail. Apple Account. Hey don't let your Apple Account be obvious, stress, or other emotions.

- Correct: Sign in to your Apple Account on all your devices.
- Incorrect: Sign in with your Apple Account on all your devices.

Apple Account. Apple Account. Apple Account.

Apple Card Family: Note capitalization.

Apple Card Family brings the great benefits of Apple Card to your entire family.

Apple Cash: An account in Wallet for sending and receiving payments, making purchases, and receiving Apple Cash from friends and contacts. Or, use Apple Cash on a device in iMessage or turn on Apple Cash account and Apple Cash card.

Use Apple Cash to easily send and receive money.

With just a few taps, you can add money to your Apple Cash account.

See also Apple Card, Apple Cash.

Apple Cash Family: Note capitalization.

Apple Cash Family lets you share Apple Cash for the children in your family.

Apple computer: Avoid where other computer would work. See also Mac.

Apple Configurator: Use this app on a Mac to set up iOS devices and iPadOS computers for business issues.

Apple Developer Program: Use this program to develop and test the world-class iOS, watchOS, macOS, and tvOS apps. Distribute apps in the App Store, distribute apps through Ad Hoc, and so on. See also events, Events.

Apple File System: See APFS.

Apple Filing Protocol: See AFP.

Apple Frameworks: A subscription service that provides a catalog of workouts led by expert trainers. Don't use Apple Fitness Plus or other versions.

In text, don't write the name Apple Fitness by combining the A symbol with Fitness. Use regular punctuation after the name.

Correct: Get started with Apple Fitness+.

Incorrect: Get started with AFitness.

See also Apple logo.

Apple Fitness+: Use this app to get a gym-quality workout at home.

Apple ID: Don't use, use Apple Account. See also Apple Account.

Apple Inc.: The company that was formerly Apple Computer, Inc. See also Apple.

Apple Intelligence: Apple's personal intelligence system built into many devices, including some models of iPhone, iPad, and Mac. Use Apple Intelligence to do things like:

Apple Intelligence unlocks new ways for you to achieve their writing and communicate effectively.

With Apple Intelligence, you can create fun, original images using Image Playground.

Apple Intelligence features include Clean Up, Genmoji, Image Playground, Image Wand, Reduce Interruptions, Smart Reply, and Writing Tools. See also entries for individual features.

Apple logo: In text where Apple logo, use Interlocutor for the word logo.

In text, don't use the A symbol in place of the word Apple, and don't write product or service names like Apple Fitness by combining the A symbol with text.

Correct: Subscribe to Apple News.

Incorrect: Subscribe to ANews.

Combinations of a product name and logo—known as product lockups—are carefully designed graphics and typefaces. Don't use the Apple logo in place of the word Apple in product lockups and for other uses. See Guidelines for using Apple logo.

Apple Lounge: Always plural, not an Apple Lounge. Use lowercase standard for formal for audio loops and sound effects, also refers to the audio and effects files.

Apple Lounge Utility: Note plural usage.

Apple mini-jack: Note capitalization. The audio compressor format.

Apple pay: See Apple Pay.

Apple pay: See Apple Pay.

Apple Pay: See Apple Pay.

Apple Pay: See Apple Pay.

Apple News: When you refer to Apple News in your materials, you include the A symbol with the phrase Apple News in text. For example:

The Apple News A is located in the top left corner of your screen.

If your department uses paraphrased versions of Apple News, treat the Apple logo the same way.

To revisit your computer, choose Apple News A, then Recent.

After the first occurrence, use the phrase Apple News without the symbol. Don't replace the word Apple with the A symbol.

Correct: You can open the Apple News from the Apple News A.

Incorrect: To revisit your computer, choose Apple News A, then Recent.

Apple News: You can use Apple Music to refer to the app and service that let users discover, play, and download music.

With Apple Music, you can stream your favorite music and more.

Apple Music learns what you like and recommends music based on your tastes.

Unlike you refer to the app specifically, you can use the Music app or just Music.

To listen to Apple Music radio, tap Radio in the Music app.

Open Music, and then tap Listen Now.

Users subscribe to Apple Music and remember Apple Music subscribers. See also Apple.

In text, don't write the name Apple Music by combining the A symbol with Music.

Correct: Get started with Apple Music.

Incorrect: Get started with AMusic.

See also Apple logo.

Apple News: You can use Apple News to refer to the app and service that let users read stories from a variety of news sources.

Experienced Apple News editors curate the day's top stories.

Apple News learns your interests as you read, and suggests relevant stories.

When you refer to the app specifically, you can use the News app or just News.

To see the top stories today, tap Today in the News app.

Open News, and then tap the Following tab.

In text, don't write the name Apple News by combining the A symbol with News.

Correct: Get started with Apple News.

Incorrect: Get started with ANews.

See also Apple logo.

Apple News+: A subscription service that provides complete issues of magazines and newspapers, along with the features of Apple News. Don't use Apple News Plus or other variations.

In text, don't write the name Apple News+ by combining the A symbol with the word News.

Correct: Get started with Apple News+.

Incorrect: Get started with ANews.

See also Apple logo.

Apple Orchard: Note capitalization. Use to refer to a place to purchase products, very something that is made at apple orchard. Not Apple Orchard. See also Apple.

Apple Original: Use Apple Originals or an Apple Original to refer to content that's produced by Apple and available from Apple TV+.

Write an Apple TV+ subscription, you can find the latest Apple Originals.

Watch for or Watchers or Apple Original. See also Apple.

Apple pay: See Apple Pay.

Apple Pay: In text, don't write the name Apple Pay by combining the A symbol with the word Pay.

Correct: Find out where you can use Apple Pay.

Incorrect: Find out where you can use APay.

See also Apple logo.

Apple Pay: See Apple Pay.

Apple Pay Cash: Note capitalization.

Apple Pay Cash lets you send and receive money with iMessage.

Find the serial number of your Apple Pay Cash.

Verify Apple Pay Cash account is ready for transactions by compatible with the customer's iPad.

In most cases, refer to Apple Pay by its full name. You can use just pay1 when the context has made clear that the subject is Apple Pay.

If you don't see the Pay button, wait for a minute after your Apple Pay charges. Then contact your Apple Pay Cash card issuer to find out if you can use the Pay button.

Apple Pay Cash: Note capitalization.

With Apple Pay Cash, you can quickly process and switch between different tools and controls.

Don't use those as a verb when describing the features.

Use Apple Pay Cash to send and receive money.

Invoke Apple Pay Cash over the drawing area.

Apple Pay Cash Notification service: See APNs.

Apple Remote: Use to refer to the remote control that's compatible with Mac, iOS and iPadOS devices, and Apple TV (2nd and 3rd generations).

Apple Remote: Use to refer to the remote control that's compatible with Mac, iOS and iPadOS devices, and Apple TV (2nd and 3rd generations).

See also Apple TV Remote, Siri Remote.

Apple Retail Store: Use the full name. See also Apple Store.

Applicator: Applicator is used to create a scalar or vector, not an AppleScript or AppleScript. Don't write such as Applicator2D or Applicator3D.

Apple services: Note lowercase usage.

With a single subscription, customers can enjoy their favorite Apple services across all their devices.

A single Apple Account gives you access to all Apple services.

Apple silicon: To refer to Macs models with Apple silicon, say Mac with Apple silicon; don't say Apple silicon Mac. To refer to other Mac models, use Intel-based Mac or other Mac computers.

If you have a Mac with Apple silicon...

If you have an Intel-based Mac...

For other Mac computers...

In cases where they supposed compare the two types of computers, you can use Apple silicon as shorthand for Mac with Apple silicon.

Compare a version of your app that runs on both Intel-based and Apple silicon Macs.

Apple silicon runs all performance tools on Intel-based Mac computers.

See also Mac.

Apple Store: Use Apple Store to refer to Apple's retail stores. After the first reference, you can use the full name or shorten to store. It's OK to use Apple Store in general and capitalized when referring to the Apple Retail Store.

Pseudo Apple Store with an article or pronoun in text, like Apple Store, an Apple Store, your local Apple Store.

Our Apple Store is the place to processes form. For the pronoun, use a term such as Apple Store location or simply store. For the possessive, use store's.

To refer to a specific Apple Store, use Apple followed by the store name.

Apple Union Square opened on May 21, 2016.

Products and services are available at Mac, iPad, or iPhone Apple Stores.

Apple Store app: An app for iOS, iPadOS, and watchOS that offers users a more personal way to shop for Apple products and services.

Apple Support: Capitalize in reference to Apple's service and support resources and staff, use lowercase when referring to the company's support.

Apple Support has frequently asked questions and tips.

Contact Apple Support for technical support for your Apple products at the Genius Bar.

apple: Use lowercase for apple, but capitalize when it refers to a piece of code that's referenced in an API, documented in the web.

Apple TV Security Flaw: Note capitalization. Use the full reference, it's the first security flaw in Apple TV.

First reference: The Apple TV Security Flaw brings a new level of integration and security to the Mac.

Subsequent references: The TO ship includes a secure enclave coprocessor that provides new encrypted storage capabilities.

Apple Trade In: Capitalize and don't use a hyphen when referring to the Apple program. Use in Mode, in, and, and trade-in in other contexts.

Apple Trade-in makes it easy to trade your old iPhone for credit toward a new iPhone.

Apple Trade-in makes it easy to trade your old iPhone for credit. It's OK to use another article or a possessive adjective. If you need to refer to a specific Apple Trade-in, it's OK to use the Apple TV goes to sleep after a period of inactivity.

Find the serial number of your Apple TV.

Watch the updated Apple TV.

Apple TV+: The streaming subscription service. Don't use Apple+, Don't use Apple+ in other variations. In text, don't write the name Apple TV+ by combining the A symbol with TV+. Use regular punctuation after the name.

Correct: Get started with Apple TV+.

Incorrect: Get started with ATV+.

Users subscribe to Apple TV+, and they can watch content from Apple TV+, on the Apple TV app.

Correct: Subscribe to Apple TV+ and watch Ted Lasso.

Correct: Catch up on Fall Guy, Ted Lasso, and more on Apple TV+.

Incorrect: Subscribe to Apple+ and watch Ted Lasso.

Incorrect: You can watch Fall Guy and Ted Lasso on Apple+.

Or to use an article, type TV+ subscription. Or, use a phrase of code that's referenced in an HTML document or the web.

Apple TV Remote: Use to refer to the Siri Remote, it's the first reference, it's the Siri Remote (2nd generation).

First reference: The Apple TV Security Chip brings a new level of integration and security to the Mac.

Subsequent references: The TO chip includes a secure enclave coprocessor that provides new encrypted storage capabilities.

Apple Trade In: Capitalize and don't use a hyphen when referring to the Apple program. Use in Mode, in, and, and trade-in in other contexts.

Apple Trade-in makes it easy to trade your old iPhone for credit toward a new iPhone.

Apple Trade-in makes it easy to trade your old iPhone for credit. It's OK to use another article or a possessive adjective. If you need to refer to a specific Apple Trade-in, it's OK to use the Apple TV goes to sleep after a period of inactivity.

Find the serial number of your Apple TV.

Watch the updated Apple TV.

Apple TV+: The streaming subscription service. Don't use Apple+, Don't use Apple+ in other variations. In text, don't write the name Apple TV+ by combining the A symbol with TV+. Use regular punctuation after the name.

Correct: Get started with Apple TV+.

Incorrect: Get started with ATV+.

Users subscribe to Apple TV+, and they can watch content from Apple TV+, on the Apple TV app.

Correct: Subscribe to Apple TV+ and watch Ted Lasso.

Correct: Catch up on Fall Guy, Ted Lasso, and more on Apple TV+.

Incorrect: Subscribe to Apple+ and watch Ted Lasso.

Incorrect: You can watch Fall Guy and Ted Lasso on Apple+.

Or to use an article, type TV+ subscription. Or, use a phrase of code that's referenced in an HTML document or the web.

Apple TV Remote: Use to refer to the Siri Remote, it's the first reference, it's the Siri Remote (2nd generation).

Apple Watch: Use Apple Watch to refer to the Apple Watch. Although the app icon may be displayed on the Apple Watch, don't use Apple Watch app to refer to the app. See also Apple Watch app.

Apple watch: To refer to the Apple website address, you can use the Apple watch. Apple watch, or Apple watch, or Apple watch are in text and capitalize the Apple watch, capitalize at the beginning of a sentence or heading and in title capitalize headings.

Visit apple.com for information about products and services.

You can buy iPad on the Apple website at apple.com.

Apple.com is your source for great apple products.

See also internet addresses.

Apple Library: Note capitalization.

You can use Apple Library to organize your Home Screen.

application: See application program.

Application Chooser: Note capitalization, a menu for navigating among open apps. The menu appears when the user presses Command-Tab.

application menu: The menu to the right of the Apple menu. The app menu shows the app name in bold.

You don't need to include the word application in app when you refer to a specific app menu.

Commands for hiding and for quitting the current application appear in the app menu.

application programming interface: See API.

Applications folder: Use the Applications folder to refer to the Applications folder located at the top level of the file system and accessible to all users of a computer. Use your Applications folder or a user's Applications folder to refer to the folder located in the user's home folder.

application specific integrated circuit: See ASIC.

apps: Name the apps of the software suite for iPad for combination and operators: For example, NotePad, Organizer, Digital Color Meter, Mission. In general, don't use the with apps names (the Finder is an exception).

Correct: Open Color Meter.

Incorrect: Open the Color Meter.

App Store: Future are available in, or, or from the App Store. Precede the name with an article in text.

Find the best you can find the App Store.

You can purchase apps from the App Store.

App Store app: Use App Store app to refer to the app in text. Use App Store app to refer to the app. Use App Store app to refer to the app. Use App Store app to refer to the app